ODST Grievance Procedure

Statement of Intent

This grievance procedure is designed to ensure that the ODST has a framework that provides a clear and transparent structure for dealing with difficulties that may arise as part of the employment relationship.

It is intended that, when it is necessary to use the grievance procedure, it is applied fairly, reasonably, and as quickly but as carefully as possible, and that the employee is given every opportunity to raise concerns. It meets the requirements of relevant legislation and the ACAS Guidance.

Please note: The starting point for developing this policy was the Oxfordshire County Council model policy which had been drawn up following consultation with all the recognised Trade Unions and Associations. It has been amended to reflect the independent status of ODST as a multi-academy trust, although the substantial content remains the same. ODST intends that future changes to this policy will be subject to consultation through the OHRF comprising MATs and union representatives from across Oxfordshire.

Overview

ODST is committed to providing a positive work environment where employees feel able to talk to their manager about work-related issues.

Wherever possible employees should aim to resolve a grievance informally by speaking to the person concerned or their line manager.

Objectives

The objectives of this grievance procedure are to:

- foster good working relationships by providing a mechanism for the timely resolution of any employee grievance.
- provide a framework to help line managers to resolve grievances in a prompt and professional manner.
- ensure that as many grievances as possible are resolved informally.
- resolve grievances as near as possible to their point of origin having regard to the lowest level of authority required to resolve the grievance.
- seek to remove the source of grievance where it is found to be valid.
- operate in a way which will not result in the victimisation of an individual who brings a grievance in good faith.

Scope

- All ODST employees based in schools.
- All centrally employed ODST employees.

Relevant Legislation

- Equality Acts 2010/2012
- School Standards & Framework Act 1998

Related Policies

- Equality Policy
- Raising Concerns at Work (“Whistleblowing”) Procedure
- Dignity at Work Procedures
- Disciplinary Policy

General Principles

Definitions

- Where the term “relevant body” is used, this refers to the Board of Trustees of ODST.
- Unless indicated otherwise, all references to “teacher” include the Headteacher.

Consistency of Treatment and Fairness

ODST is committed to ensuring consistency of treatment and fairness and will abide by all relevant employment and equality legislation.

Delegation

The relevant body has chosen to delegate some of its functions to member schools as set out in this policy.

Monitoring and Evaluation

The Local Governing Body and Headteacher will monitor at school level the operation and effectiveness of the grievance policy. The Headteacher /Chair of the Local Governing Body may be periodically asked to report to the ODST pay and personnel sub-committee the details of the operation of this procedure in their school.

Responsibilities

- The Local Governing Body should adopt this model ODST policy,
- Governors must ensure that appropriate support is given both to the employee raising the grievance and to any employee against whom allegations have been made under this procedure and that both parties are kept fully informed of progress.

ODST Model Grievance Procedure for School Employees

Introduction and Overview

1/ ODST is committed to promoting a positive work environment where employees feel able to talk to their line manager about work-related problems.

2/ This procedure is primarily for grievances raised by individual employees, although it is possible for a group of employees to take out a collective grievance. Collective disputes will normally be dealt with through formal local mechanisms involving the trade unions.

3/ This procedure follows the steps recommended by the ACAS Statutory Code of Practice on Discipline & Grievance. It has been designed to ensure complaints from employees are dealt with promptly and in a fair and consistent manner.

Dealing with matters informally

4/ Employees should aim to resolve most grievances informally by speaking to the person concerned or their line manager, explaining clearly what the concern or problem is.

5/ If employees don't feel able to approach the person concerned or their line manager, they should talk the matter through with:

- another manager in the school,
- a trade union representative.

If an employee is not sure who to talk to, they can also contact the ODST HR team for advice.

6/ Line managers and employees have a responsibility to try and resolve workplace disputes and problems promptly, aiming to avoid disruption, through discussion and by seeking to understand the views and perspective of others.

7/ Line managers should take concerns raised by employees seriously, act promptly and seek to resolve the matter informally, where this is possible.

8/ Where the grievance is about bullying or harassment, employees and school managers or governors should also refer to the school's Dignity at Work policy.

9/ Raising a complaint or being subject to a complaint can be an upsetting experience. Everyone involved can expect to be treated calmly and with respect.

10/ No employee will suffer detriment for raising a formal grievance in good faith, or for assisting a colleague to do so. However, if an employee is found to have used this procedure frivolously, maliciously, or excessively without legitimate grounds, disciplinary action may be considered.

11/ Where attempts to resolve matters informally have been exhausted by the employee, or circumstances make this route inappropriate, this formal procedure can be followed.

Definition of a grievance

12/ Grievances are "concerns, problems or complaints that employees raise with their employers" (ACAS). Grievances can be about terms and conditions of employment; working conditions; working relations; discrimination; statutory employment rights and working practices (this list is not exhaustive).

What is not covered by this procedure?

13/ Employees who wish to raise concerns about suspected malpractice, fraud or wrongdoing in relation to the school's operations should follow the ODST Whistleblowing Procedure which can be found online.

14/ An employee who is subject to formal disciplinary or capability proceedings will have the opportunity to raise any grievance about that through the disciplinary/capability process. If an employee wishes to raise a grievance or whistleblowing matter that is unrelated to the disciplinary/capability proceedings, it will be dealt with separately and concurrently, and wherever possible by different managers to avoid allegations of bias. In some cases, one proceeding may be temporarily suspended while the other is dealt with.

15/ This policy does not cover areas of employment where specific procedures for raising concerns or appeals are in place. For example:

- redundancy,
- concerns about pay or appraisal,
- pension matters,
- matters relating to tax and national insurance.

16/ A grievance that has not been raised within three months of the events which gave rise to it will normally be disregarded unless it is agreed that there are exceptional circumstances.

Mediation

17/ Mediation is an effective way of resolving disputes and helps avoid matters escalating and the need for formal procedures. Mediation can be used at any stage and can address a range of issues including relationship and communication breakdown.

18/ Mediators do not make judgments or determine outcomes - they ask questions that help uncover underlying problems, assist the parties to understand each other's point of view and help them look at options for resolving their dispute.

19/ For more information about mediation please contact the ODST HR Team in the first instance.

Raising a Formal Grievance

20/ You must set out the facts of your complaint in writing in a letter or by completing the Grievance Form (see Appendix 2). This written statement will form the basis of the grievance meeting and any investigations, so it is important that you:

- set out the nature of your complaint clearly,
- provide details such as dates and times of events,
- give the names of any witnesses,
- include supporting evidence,
- explain how you believe the matter could be resolved.

21/ The letter or completed grievance form must be sent to your line manager or head teacher. Where the grievance is about the head teacher, the grievance must be sent to the Chair of the Local Governing Body in the first instance. Formal grievances from head teachers should be raised with the Deputy CEO in the first instance.

22/ In all cases the relevant manager must contact the ODST HR Team in advance of any formal meeting being arranged.

23/ You will receive confirmation that your grievance has been received and you will be given the name of the person who will be responsible for dealing with it (referred to as the nominated manager).

24/ Where it is not clear from the written grievance whether attempts have been made to resolve the complaint informally, a discussion will take place between a member of the DST HR Team and the person raising the grievance to establish this, and to consider whether an informal approach could be used in the first instance.

Formal Grievance Meeting

25/ A meeting will be arranged for you to attend, without unreasonable delay and usually within 10 working days of receiving the grievance. You can be accompanied at this meeting by a trade union representative or work colleague.

26/ The meeting will be run by the nominated manager responsible for dealing with your grievance. The aim of this meeting is for the nominated manager to establish a detailed understanding of the issues and if possible, decide how to resolve the problem.

27/ You will be asked to explain the grievance and how you think it could be resolved. It is important that you use this opportunity to make sure all the issues are raised, and any supporting evidence is provided, along with the names of any witnesses. No new complaints can be added after this meeting unless agreement is given by the nominated manager.

28/ Notes of the meeting will be taken and circulated to attendees. The nominated manager may arrange for a separate note-taker to attend.

29/ The nominated manager may decide that they need to gather more information before reaching a decision and will adjourn the meeting to allow an investigation to take place. This is particularly likely if the complaint is against another person, who will need to be given the opportunity to provide a response. The nominated manager will write to you within three working days, following this meeting, confirming the actions agreed.

30/ Where it is possible for the nominated manager to come to a decision about the grievance at this first meeting, they will do so and decide what actions to take and where possible give that decision as part of the meeting. The nominated manager will then confirm the outcome in writing to you within three working days of the meeting. You will have the right of appeal should you believe the outcome is unacceptable.

Investigation

31/ Where more information is needed, or further investigation is necessary, this will be carried out either by the nominated manager themselves or they may appoint an investigating officer. You will be told who this will be.

32/ Investigations will be conducted fairly and without delay. In normal circumstances the investigation will be completed within a period of four working weeks, depending on the scale and complexity of the issues. If there are unavoidable delays you will be kept informed.

33/ You are required to attend investigation meetings when requested to do so.

Reconvened Formal Grievance Meeting

34/ When the investigation is complete and the nominated manager is satisfied, they have all the information, the outcome will be communicated to you. This may involve another meeting being arranged, normally within 10 working days. Again, you can be accompanied by a trade union representative or work colleague.

35/ The nominated manager will feed back the findings from the investigation and provide their conclusion and decision. The nominated manager will confirm the outcome in writing to you within three working days of any such meeting. You will have the right of appeal should you believe the outcome is unacceptable.

Appeal

36/ If you believe that your grievance has not been satisfactorily resolved, based on the evidence and the fair application of this procedure, you have the right to appeal within 10 working days of receiving the written outcome.

37/ In accordance with the ACAS statutory Code of Practice your appeal must be made in writing, and you must make clear the grounds for your appeal, for example, faults in the procedure followed, new evidence not originally available, a perverse decision. No new complaints can be raised at the appeal.

38/ The appeal will either be heard by the Headteacher where they have had no previous involvement in the grievance process, or a member of the Local Governing Body. In exceptional circumstances, the appeal will be heard by a panel comprising three members of the Local Governing Body or nominated ODST representatives. The appeal hearing will be arranged without unreasonable delay and usually within 10 working days of receiving the appeal.

39/ This will normally take the form of a hearing where you will have the opportunity to explain the grounds of your appeal and the nominated manager will respond to it. In some circumstances the Chair or panel may instead choose to deal with the matter by written submissions from both parties.

40/ The outcome of the appeal will be communicated to you in writing within three working days of the decision. This is the final stage of the formal grievance procedure.

For a visual overview of the process please see Appendix 1.

The right to be accompanied

41/ You have the right to be represented by a trade union representative or accompanied by a work colleague at formal grievance meetings.

42/ Whilst normal management meetings, informal discussions and investigatory meetings do not attract the legal right to be accompanied, requests to be accompanied will be supported wherever practical.

43/ Where you wish to be accompanied, you must contact the nominated manager responsible for dealing with your grievance and give them the name of the trade union representative or work colleague in good time before the meeting (or give this information on the grievance form).

Keeping and disclosing records

44/ Whether dealing with grievances formally or informally, it is advisable for all parties to keep a brief record of discussions and agreed actions.

45/ In certain circumstances the nominated manager may decide to protect the identity of an individual or to withhold some information, for example where information is of a sensitive personal nature or considered to be irrelevant.

46/ An ODST HR representative should be present at any formal grievance or appeal meeting, unless otherwise agreed, so as to provide support and offer a note-taking facility.

Confidentiality

47/ Confidentiality must be maintained by all parties. Only those who need to know about the grievance will be informed.

48/ Records on any process under this policy will be kept no longer than necessary and in compliance with GDPR and Data Protection Act 2018.

Avoiding delays

49/ Prolonged, unresolved grievances can be distressing for all parties and the school recognises that it is in everyone's interests for matters to be resolved as quickly as possible.

50/ Line managers will make every effort to deal with grievances promptly and without unreasonable delay.

51/ Employees will be consulted on the scheduling of dates/times for meetings. If the employee's representative cannot attend on a proposed date, the employee must provide alternative times and dates of their availability, so long as these are reasonable and not more than five working days after the original date. Alternatively, employees can nominate another representative.

52/ Employees and their representatives must take all reasonable steps to avoid delays, make every effort to attend the meetings required under this procedure and to provide any information requested by the nominated manager or investigating officer promptly and in advance of any meetings.

53/ If an employee is unable to attend a meeting because of circumstances beyond their control, they should inform the nominated manager dealing with their grievance as soon as possible.

54/ Employees will be expected to participate and attend all meetings, unless a GP or Occupational Health advises that that they are not fit to do so. In these circumstances, other arrangements may be agreed with the employee to ensure matters can still proceed e.g. for a representative to act on their behalf. The employee's absence will be managed in accordance with the ODST Managing Sickness Absence Procedure which can be found in the members area of the ODST website.

55/ The nominated manager can make the decision to proceed in the employee's absence if:

- the meeting has already been rearranged once and the employee fails to attend for a second time,
- the employee fails to attend without explanation, or there is evidence that the employee has not made sufficient attempts to attend,
- the employee is on long-term sick leave and medical opinion is that they will be unable to attend meetings in the near future. In these circumstances, alternative arrangements will be discussed with the employee e.g. the employee can supply written information instead or ask a representative to attend on their behalf.

Accessibility

56/ If any aspect of this procedure causes difficulty on account of a disability or if English is not your first language, or if you need particular assistance or adjustments to attend meetings, contact the nominated manager at the earliest opportunity.

Support

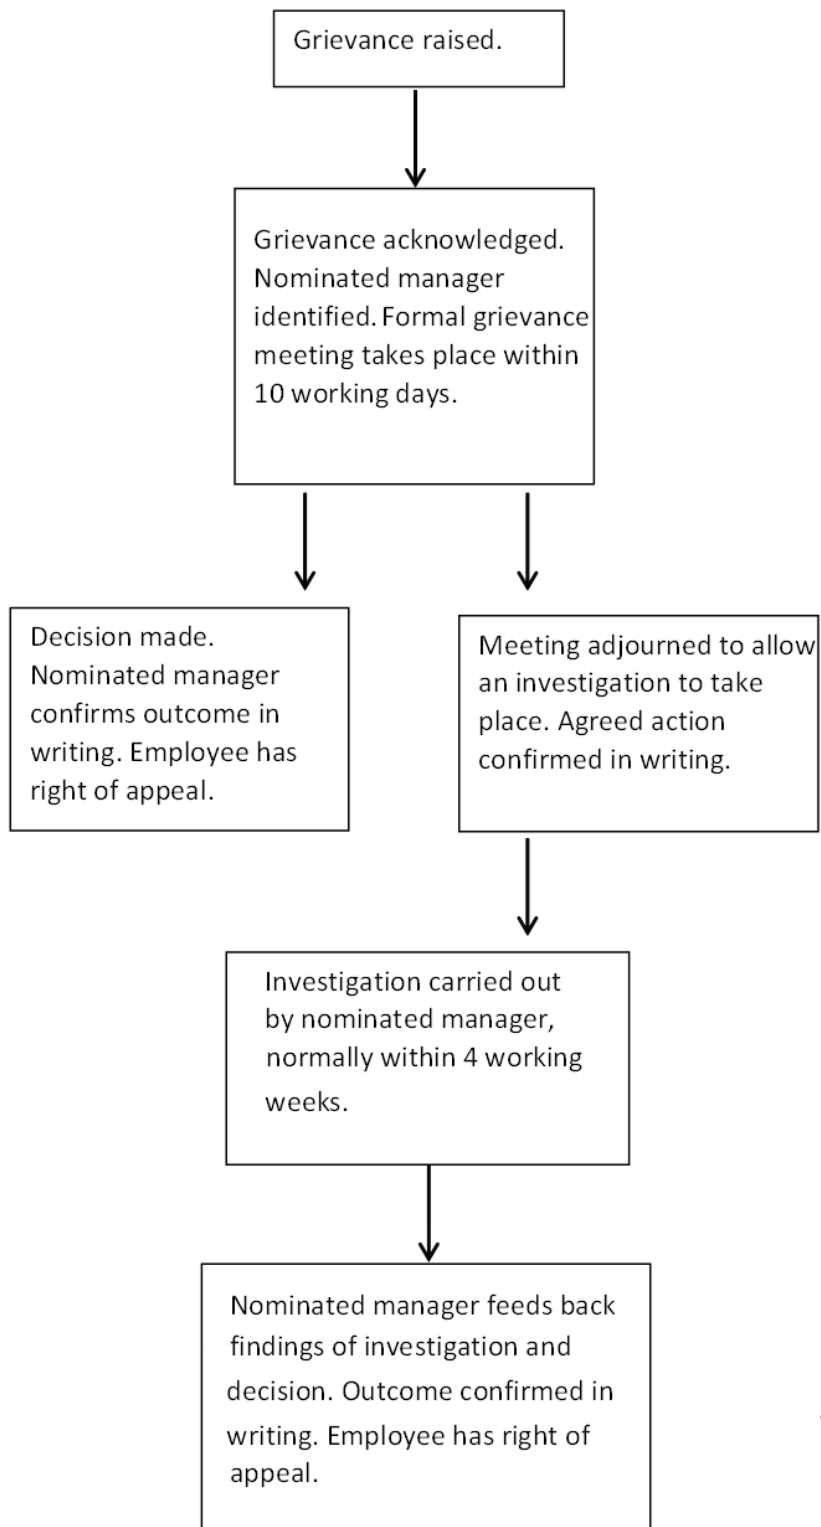

57/ Grievances can be upsetting and stressful for all parties and line managers have a responsibility for making sure all individuals involved in a dispute or grievance are offered appropriate support. This can be provided by offering additional one to one meetings or by assigning a key contact for the employee. The Employee Assistance Programme may also be an option in ODST schools that have signed up to this service either directly or through Absence Insurance provisions.

Concerns from ex-employees or during notice period

58/ Wherever possible, a concern should be dealt with before an employee leaves employment. However, in cases where an employee has left employment before a concern has been raised the former employee should write to their former line manager setting out the grievance as soon as possible, and not later than one month after leaving employment and a response will be given in writing.

59/ If an employee raises a grievance during their notice period and there is insufficient time for the school to investigate and/or resolve the issue before the employee's employment ends a written response will be given.

Appendix 3- Guidance Notes when the Grievance is against the Headteacher

In the event that a grievance is made against the Headteacher this should be sent to the Chair of Governors in the first instance. A representative of the Local Governing Body will be expected to take on the role of nominated manager and will carry out an investigation where necessary but will be supported closely throughout by relevant members of the central ODST team. In the event of an appeal, a different member of the Local Governing Body will hear the appeal.

In exceptional circumstances where a grievance is taken out against a Headteacher, a Panel of three, comprising representatives of ODST and/or the Local Governing Body will be convened. For the purposes of the Grievance Procedure the Chair of this Panel will assume the role of Nominated Manager as described previously. The Panel should not have had any involvement with the issues that are being investigated and must not include a staff governor. The ODST HR Team must be involved at all stages of the process where a grievance has been taken out against a Headteacher. In the event of an appeal in these circumstances, a Panel of three will be convened, comprising of different representatives of ODST and/or the Local Governing Body.
